Boulder City Adds Part-time Communications Specialist

BOULDER CITY – Keith Paul recently joined the City of Boulder City as a Communications Specialist. He joins the City after a successful career as a newspaper reporter and public information officer for the Henderson Police Department and the City of Henderson.

As a reporter, Keith was recognized for his in-depth reporting, thoughtful storytelling and desire to improve the communities where he lived and worked. As the first civilian Public Information Officer for the Henderson Police Department, Keith helped the community see the hardworking men and women of the Henderson Police Department as advocates for safer neighborhoods. When Keith transitioned over to the City of Henderson Public Information Officer, he focused on getting information out about the valuable services offered to residents.

“Keith has experience that will complement the work our communications manager has initiated,” said Al Noyola, City Manager. “His knowledge will be a great benefit to our community as we continue to increased our efforts to share information and be transparent and open.”

Keith was born in Baltimore, MD, and received a Bachelor’s degree in Journalism from the University of Maryland. He worked at newspapers in Maryland, Georgie and Texas before moving to Las Vegas in 1999 to work for the Las Vegas Sun prior to moving on to the City of Henderson in 2002. He received his Master’s degree from UNLV in Public Administration.
