

What's Happening around the City of Boulder City

Odie Makes a Splash on the Airwaves

That's THE Shania Twain riding our Odie! BCPD Officer Scott Pastore and his Mounted Unit Odie were invited to Las Vegas for a video shoot in November. The shoot was for the new Las Vegas slogan, "What happens here, only happens here." The ad broadcast Sunday before the Super Bowl before a worldwide audience. Odie's camera time hits about :05 into the ad. This was the first time a Las Vegas ad was allowed to appear during a Super Bowl telecast. For years, the National Football League has banned Las Vegas from advertising because of the city's association with gambling and the casino industry. Joining Forces Campaign Underway

We may be approaching NASCAR season, but leave the racing to the pros on the racetrack. One-third of fatal crashes nationwide involve speeding. Boulder City Police Department is "Joining Forces" with other law enforcement agencies to increase high-visibility patrols from January 31 through February 17, 2020, for motorists exceeding the speed limit. "Getting caught can be costly; fines can run hundreds of dollars depending on the offense," said Police Chief Tim Shea. "Not only is it costly – it is also dangerous. We've seen time and again the devastating impact these senseless accidents have on family and friends of victims."
